

Enclosure #1: Our Perfect Storm Bad Year

The impact of the professional misconduct by Prof. Campbell hit our family in an almost unbelievably bad year. Here are highlights (not even all of the extraordinary events):

- February 8, 2010: The bogus and manufactured non-counseling incident happens
- May, 2010: We sell our house and move into a temporary apartment (hoping to move to the countryside). Teenage son is quite difficult while in apartment.
- June 14, 2010: Beth has a major stroke (3 of them actually) at age 48. She had no risk factors according to her neurologist and primary care physician. Gee, I wonder if stress from that complaint had a role?
- November 2010: we have to give up our hope for moving to the countryside at least until we are sure Beth can work as a pharmacist again or (as of April 2011 its still up in the air and at the least nowhere near).
- January 20, 2011: we close on a house. Due to the nasty year (including Dave having to drive everyone all over because Beth cannot drive), as of April we are still 70% in boxes and our garage is logjammed full of them so that I cannot even find a tool or other things I need, and have done things like buy $200 of cables I had in a box somewhere to finish setting up our modest basement home theater, so its ready for my son's birthday overnighiter.
- Late January, 2011: we get the notice from IBOP that Beth must defend her license.
- February 28 to March 4, 2011: Dave finishes preparations for defending Beth's licsense (did some work in prior weeks) and they spend two days travelling to Boise to defend it.
- Mid-March, 2011: Dave picks up the nastiest chest cold imaginable, being completely out of the loop for 10 days (sleeping 16-18 hours/day then and only teaching classes). Gee, might this have had something to do with being run down from the stress about Beth's license and having to prepare Beth's defense?
- March 28, 2011: Dave begins what will be 10 days of hospitalization in both Pullman and Spokane for Guillain-Barre Syndrome (a nasty condition to have). Gee, could Dave having been run down so much and having that nasty chest cold (which he possibly got after being run down after having to spend a lot of time and stress defending Beth's license)?
